Attempted Escape from Fort Lafayette.

[illegible] on Sunday [illegible] the walls of Fort Lafayette [illegible] in the evening, and [illegible] that casemate No. 5 had been opened. Soon after a rope was lowered, with an article attached, [illegible] by a man. The rope was not long enough to enable the prisoner to reach the ground. As he let fall the [illegible] the sentry seized and possessed himself of [illegible] and took him prisoner. The man proved to be James Lowber, the rebel bearer of dispatches, who was recently followed by the detectives from the house of his father-in-law, Mr. Alexander Shultz, at Peekskill, to Cleveland, Ohio, where they arrested him. It will be remembered that previous to his being taken he had forwarded his dispatches to their proper and direct destination, and he himself [illegible] near [illegible] the officers. The sentry, upon seizing his prisoner, found that he had lowered a large new wash-tub, a life-preserver and his valise—the latter full of valuables.—Lowber begged hard to be permitted to ascend the rope again into his apartment and attempted to bribe his captor by the offer of his gold watch and $7 50 in gold coin, which he had tied up in a bladder, if he would allow him to do so. Of course his proposal was not accepted, but, instead, the sentry marched his prisoner into the fort, and aroused the officer of the guard. Lieut. Wood, the commander of the fort, was immediately apprised of the attempted escape, and ordered the long roll to be beaten. This brought the garrison to the parade. All the prisoners of the fort were then brought out and the roll called to ascertain if any were missing. All, however, answered to their names. It appears that Mr. Lowber occupied casemate No. 5, in company with fifteen others, only six of whom, as far as could be gathered, were aware of his premeditated escape, and these say they attempted to dissuade him from his purpose. Lowber states that the gold was brought him on a draught by the wife of one of the prisoners; but how he became possessed of the wash-tub, the rope and the life-preserver, is a mystery. The key with which the prisoner unlocked the padlock of the casemate shutter, he says he made himself. It is supposed that he intended to place his valise in the tub, and supported by his life-preservers, to have pushed off from the fort with his novel craft, either for the shore, or for some vessel in the vicinity. It seems probable that an arrangement had had been made on board a vessel, as three were hovering about in suspicious proximity—one of which, a bark, had approached so near that the sentry had ordered her off. As soon as the prisoners had gone to their lodgings, and Lowber had been double ironed, Lieutenant Wood, with a file of soldiers, entered his cutter, and rowed out to the vessels, which proved to be a bark, a brig and a schooner. These he captured, and anchored alongside the revenue cutter Bibb. The Lieutenant states that the officers of the Bibb treated him very uncivilly, apparently not being very well pleased that he had disturbed them at such an unwarrantable hour. On Sunday the vessels were missing from the Bibb, but it had not been ascertained what had become of them, and, at the urgent request of Lowber and his friends, the handcuffs were removed, his legs remaining manacled. So far from expressing regret at the attempt at escape he is rather boastful of it, and declares himself to be a most ardent secessionist.

The Disunion Issue

The Advertiser charges that the friends of the Union have sustained the Government by violations of the Constitution. It insists that this should not have been done, and that the Government should have gone down.

The Advertiser knows that Congress has sustained the President in all the measures he adopted to sustain the Government; but the opinion and acts of Congress have no weight when thrown into the scales in opposition to the opinion of Gov. Curry.

The issue as the Advertiser presents it, divested of its abstractions, is simply UNION or DISUNION. Every man knows on which side to find the Advertiser.

ADDRESS OF SECRETARY CHASE.—Secretary Chase, at a meeting in New York, thus addressed the Board of Bank Managers:—

He said that the Government now saw clearly how to quell the rebellion; that they had information which warranted him in saying that the public would soon hear glad tidings of success, more startling and more effective in their results than those from Port Royal and the West; that neither the Government nor General McClellan ever had the least idea of placing the army in winter quarters, but, on the contrary, the military plans all contemplated regular, systematic and energetic activity in pushing forward upon the rebels as prudence and judgment dictated; that Government had ample funds to supply every liability until February 1st, and that all the machinery of the departments was gradually working into a very satisfactory state of efficiency.

The address gave great satisfaction.

In a public document Gov. Pickens of South Carolina represents that there were ten thousand rebel troops in that State at the date of the late invasion. We have now from twenty to twenty five thousand at Beaufort. The papers of Charleston say that the war was commenced in that State, and should be concluded there. "Them's our sentiments" exactly.

ROAD TO SALMON RIVER FROM YREKA.—The Yreka Journal, of Nov. 27th—the last received—notices a project there to open a road direct to the Salmon River mines. It says the distance to the mines from Yreka, by air line, is about the same as to Portland. A subscription has been started to open the road. If successful, it is expected that Yreka will become a convenient depot for the Salmon river miners. Perhaps so.

NOT SO!—The Steilacoom Herald says that the Washington Standard has suspended. This is not so. The statement is entirely gratuitous. The Standard is now one of our most valuable exchanges. The only complaint we have is that the postmasters do not send it along as they should.

THE OREGON REGIMENT.—The company at Salem were mustered into service last Monday. A full company has been mustered into service at Jacksonville, and it is believed three more companies will be raised South of the mountains.

MINES IN SISKIYOU COUNTY.—The Yreka Journal says that mines paying $5 and $10 a day there, are deserted; and that the miners are so struck with the Salmon river gold fever that one hundred ounce diggings would not hold them.

Gen. Shields has accepted the office of Brigadier General, and will at once proceed from San Francisco to Washington for active service.

MASON'S EMBASSY.—Some months ago Mason was asked when he would visit B[illegible]n. He answered, "When he visits it an accredited ambassador." He is now [illegible] Fort Warren.

Washington Territory

OLYMPIA, W. T., Dec. 20, 1861.

In the Supreme Court to-day the case of the Puget Sound Agricultural Society, Pierce county, was commenced. [illegible] Chenoweth, Esq., occupied the whole of the day in arguing on behalf of the Company. He will be followed by [illegible] B[illegible] on behalf of the Company. [illegible] the county [illegible] the Company [illegible] the question [illegible] lands under the [illegible] 1846.

In the House of [illegible].—A Bill [illegible]. Also a Bill for the organization of the University built during the past year at Seattle, under the auspices [illegible] of Rev. Daniel Bagley, President of the Board of University Commissioners. It [illegible] confers the requisite University [illegible] powers. An invitation was extended by the President [illegible] to visit Seattle during the holidays and be present at the dedication of the University, the appropriate address to be delivered by A. B. Mercer, Esq., principal of the School.

In the Council.—A Joint Resolution was introduced providing for a Joint Convention to elect a territorial printer. It was finally referred to Committee on printing, with instruction to report to-morrow morning.

A Bill was introduced by Mr. Moore of Walla Walla and Shoshone, defining the boundaries of Shoshone county, as follows:

Beginning at mouth of South Fork of Clearwater, thence south along said river to the Lolo Fork, thence East along said fork to summit of the Bitter Root Mountains, thence north to the divide between Palouse and North Fork of Clearwater, thence westerly along said divide to a point north of the mouth of the said South Fork of Clearwater river, thence due south to place of beginning. This Bill read twice and referred to Committee on counties.

Also an Act to create and organize Nez Perce county, with following boundaries:—Beginning at Mouth of Clearwater up same to South Fork, along which to Lolo creek, thence along the South boundary of Shoshone (as above described) to summit of Bitter Root mountains, thence South to main divide between waters of Salmon river and South Fork of Clearwater to the Snake river, thence along the Snake river to the mouth of the Clearwater, the place of beginning;—which, with officers named to serve till next general election. Which Bill, under suspension of rules, was passed.

Also an act to create the county of El Dorado, including all of the Territory of Washington south of said county of Nez Perce and east of Snake river, and naming requisite officers to serve till next general election.—Which Bill passed Council under suspension of the rules.

The Standard is now doing the Legislative printing. QUID NUNC.

OLYMPIA, Dec. 20—Evening.

We are having a fine snow.

IN THE HOUSE several ferry charters were introduced and referred—also a bill to extend the privileges of Oregon Navigation Company. A bill to divorce Mr. Thorndike, a member of the house, was passed in three minutes. Capital county, Washington Territory, for men who wish to get rid of their wives.

IN THE COUNCIL.—The President of the University Commissioner made a Report.—The Secretary of the Territory was reprimanded for not sending to the House postage stamps. A very small business.—Colonel Hubbs introduced a series of resolutions, pledging the people of Washington Territory to the national government in its efforts to put down this damnable rebellion. They will, I believe, pass unanimously. [illegible] out here.

The Shoshone boundary bill passed. A resolution for the election of public printer was tabled. John Miller Murphy is public printer, therefore, for the present.

IN THE SUPREME COURT the case of the Puget Sound Agricultural Society was closed yesterday, by a speech from B[illegible] Kendall, Esq., on behalf of the company. The arguments will be concluded by [illegible] next.

Messrs. B[illegible] and [illegible] of the [illegible], Smith have arrived from Vancouver, and will take their seats to-morrow. [illegible] Mr. Smith as the author of the affidavit that was used against Col. Wallace in the late Delegate election. QUID NUNC.

NEW POSTMASTERS.—George Mercer, Corvallis, Benton county, Oregon; Jesse Applegate, Yoncalla, [illegible] county, Oregon; Charles P. Cook, Independence, Polk county, Oregon; Royal C. Smith, Monticello, Cowlitz county, W. T.; H. D. Hinkley, Seattle, King county, W. T.

Mr. Bright made an eloquent speech in Parliament on the American question. He condemned the warlike feeling in England, and [illegible] that the American Cabinet had really [illegible].

The threat of the release of Mr. [illegible] Corcoran has created the wildest excitement among the Irish of New York.

FROM VICTORIA.—We have Victoria papers of the 20th.

On the 18th, the bark Perth, consigned to the Hudson Bay Company, 180 days from London, arrived, with a cargo valued at $225,000. On approaching the coast a mutiny among the sailors was suppressed. On their arrival the guilty were sent to jail

Hon. John Work, Chief Factor of the Hudson Bay Company, was lying at the point of death.

Stephen Casserly, charged with [illegible] in Sacramento, has been given up by the authorities of Victoria, and will be sent back to California for trial

Potter's theatrical company were playing with success at Victoria. Mrs. Forbes' performances are spoken of with high approbation.

Advice to Young Ladies.

If you have blue eyes languish.

If black eyes, affect spirit.

If you have pretty feet, wear short petticoats.

If you are the least doubtful as to that point wear them long.

If you have good teeth, don't forget to laugh now and then.

If you have bad ones, you must only simper.

While you are young sit with your face to the light.

When you are a little advanced, sit with your back to the window.

If you have a bad voice, always speak in a low tone.

If it is acknowledged that you have a fine voice, never speak in a high tone.

If you dance well, dance but seldom.

If you dance ill, never dance at all.

If you sing well, make no previous excuses.

If you sing indifferently, hesitate not a moment when you are asked, for few persons are competent judges of singing, but every one is sensible of the desire to please.

If in conversation you think a person wrong, rather hint a difference of opinion than offer a contradiction.

It is always in your power to make a friend by smiles; what folly to make enemies by frowns?

When you have an opportunity to praise, do it with all your heart.

If you wish to let the world know you are in love with a particular man, treat him with formality, and every one else with ease and freedom.

If you are disposed to be pettish or insolent, it is better to exercise your ill humor on your dog or cat or your servant than on your friend.

An Irishwoman appeared in the County Court of Louisville, recently, to be appointed guardian for her child, when the following colloquy ensued:

Judge—"What estate has this child of yours?"

"Plaze yer honor, I don't understand yees."

Judge—"I say, what has she got?"

"Chills and fever, please yer honor."
